feprep University

The mission of feprep University is simple—to provide schools with an effective, easy-to-manage, and low-cost program for engineering students preparing for the FE exam.

The feprep University is powered by Professional Publications, Inc. (PPI), the leader in FE and PE exam preparation since 1975. PPI’s founder and president, Michael R. Lindeburg, PE, designed the feprep.com learning management system to prepare students to review and practice in an environment that mirrors the NCEES computer-based testing experience. Students have been successfully using the feprep.com program to pass their exams since its 2014 launch.

PPI’s latest offering, feprep University, enables your school to offer a top-notch, one-stop FE exam training program for students preparing for any of the seven FE exam disciplines. Each student can access PPI’s entire online suite of FE exam review and practice materials for only $45—a 90% discount exclusive to our university market. Instructors can also assign homework and track students’ progress with custom group reporting.
