COUNCIL AND COMMITTEE HANDBOOK

To facilitate informed decision-making at the various administrative levels of the university, Texas A&M University-Kingsville provides for a broad-based input from faculty, staff, and student input through a framework of university-wide councils and committees. The system includes administrative councils and university committees who report to the appropriate administrator.

University committees and councils aid in the effective operations of the university by continually reviewing practices and policies in its area of concerns and recommending changes; instituting new policies and procedures; executing appeals processes; or fulfilling administrative mandates for the university.

Membership in a university committee is defined by the state criteria given for each committee. Individual committee members are selected by the appropriate office and/or recommended by representative bodies as applicable (Presiding Officer, Faculty Advisory Council, Council of Chairs, Vice Presidents, Deans, Staff Council, Student Government Association, etc.).

Faculty members recommended by the Faculty Advisory Council are nominated by the Council's officers or Presiding Officer after vacancies have been announced and applications invited. Appointments are made by the appropriate administrator. Student members to serve on committees are nominated by the President of the Student Government Association and are appointed by the appropriate administrator. The Staff Council nominates members of the staff to serve on appropriate committees.

Selections are made on the basis of the individual's interest, the needs of the committee, and maintenance of an equitable distribution of faculty and professional staff members on the various committees. In instances of resignations or other kinds of terminations, the designated administrator shall appoint new members to fill vacancies and complete the terms of the replaced persons.

In general, the annual period of service for committees is from September 1 to August 31. Other committees may elect their chairs annually.

Unless stated otherwise a quorum of more than 50% of the voting members is required for any committee to conduct business. Committees will meet at the call of their chair or on petition of more than 25 percent of the members. Annual reports of committee service should be succinct, but comprehensive, and should highlight to any recommended revisions in policies, practices, and procedures.
