

Department: Clinical and Health Sciences

Program: Communication Sciences and Disorders Bachelor of Science Degree

Skill Set	Professional Application	Delivery of Skill Set Courses, extracurricular activities, etc. in which the skill set is introduced (I), reinforced (R), or mastered (M)
Effective written communication	Written documentation of patient/student progress based on treatment plans	CSDO 4327 Diagnostics in S/L Pathology (writing intensive) (M) CSDO 4390 Clinical Methods (R)
Critical thinking	Consider etiology and individual factors on treatment approach, analyze data to determine treatment effectiveness, make adjustments based on data analysis using numerical and/or observational data	CSDO 4321 Articulatory and Phonological Disorders (I) CSDO 4327 Diagnosis in S/L Pathology (M) CSDO 4329 Voice and Fluency Disorders (R) CSDO 4335 Communication Disorders in Children (R) CSDO 4336 Communication Disorders in Adults (R)
Creative problem-solving	Create functional and individualized intervention activities to empower and motivate clients from across the lifespan (children and adults) with varying cognitive and communication abilities	CSDO 3313 Introduction to Audiology (I) CSDO 4321 Articulatory and Phonological Disorders (R) CSDO 4327 Diagnosis in S/L Pathology (M)