What is CO-FLEX?

Covid-Flex, or Co-Flex courses, require students enrolled in that course to meet in-person for one course day a week. Students will attend the course virtually on the other class day(s) that week. These courses will meet in-person with one group of students each class day.

- Classes are divided up in sections based on when you registered and where space is available.
- Most classes are expected to be recorded and accessible to students through blackboard collaborate.
- The faculty may modify class schedules to make it easier for students during the first week of classes and would be published in the class syllabus.
